Dr. Burke Allowed to Visit Dying Brother

Alfred Burke, former manager of Burke's Sanitarium, is believed to be dying at his home in Oakland. On Monday Dr. Burke's counsel urged Judge Seawell in a petition presented that the condemned physician be allowed to go to Oakland to see his brother, the latter having urgently requested that he be allowed to do so.

Judge Seawell, under the circumstances, granted the request, ordering that Dr. Burke might be allowed to leave the jail and go to Oakland accompanied by Sheriff Smith, or some other officer designated by him, and that he be allowed to remain away until Wednesday night. Dr. Burke could have gone to Oakland Monday night, but his own state of health is such that of his own volition he asked that he be taken to Oakland Tuesday morning.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock sharp, so go early, you baseball fan, and avoid the rush. "Teddy" Kiser will be on deck with the big noise, calling strikes and balls. Theatrette to be Enlarged

The Duhring-Rylands will enlarge the Don Theatre for William Collins, the manager. That portion of the building now occupied by the Sonoma Valley electric light company will be vacated to make room for the enlargement. The electric light company will move its office into the building adjoining Gottenberg's garage. This enlargement of the theatrette will increase its seating capacity almost double. It is expected to have the improvement completed next month, when vaudeville will be added to the attractions of this popular place of amusement.

Painful Accident

Peter, the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yenni, while at play last Monday afternoon, stepped on a broken bottle and had his right foot cut to the bone. The wound bled profusely and the lad suffered considerable pain until the arrival of Dr. Hays who stopped the flow of blood and closed the jagged wound with several stitches. The injury will lay the lad up for some little time.

FRIGHTFUL DEATH AT EL VERANO.

Louis Schallberger of the Baxter Tract Near Here the Victim.

His Horse Ran Away and He Was Thrown From Wagon—Skull Crushed In.

A dreadful fatal accident took place in El Verano on Tuesday morning, which resulted in the almost instant death of Louis Schallberger, a small farmer residing on the Baxter tract two miles southwest of town.

The unfortunate man was driving a one-horse rig along the county road and as he approached the railroad crossing in El Verano the animal became frightened at an approaching locomotive and ran away. Schallberger lost control of the horse, which dashed wildly across the track. When the wheels of the wagon came in contact with the rails he was hurled high in the air by the force of the impact and landed head foremost on the hard road bed. So terrific was the force with which he struck the ground that the man's head was crushed in as though it was an egg shell and his brains dashen out. He lay where he fell and expired almost instantly.

Parties who witnessed the accident went to the aid of the prostrate man and realizing that they could do nothing for him phoned for both Dr. Leix and Thomson of this city. The latter was the first to reach the victim of the accident but Schallberger was beyond all earthly aid when examined by the doctor.

The deceased, who was a single man, had resided in the valley but a short time. He was a native of Switzerland and was aged about 60 years.

It is rumored that a new picture show house will be erected on the Adler lot adjoining Hotz's dry good store. It is the intention of the owners of this new place of amusement to charge an admission fee of a nickle.

"Well Done, Thou Good and Faithful Servants"

Senator L. W. Juilliard and Assemblyman Hebert W. Slater have returned to Santa Rosa after attending a three month's session of the Legislature, and have resumed their civic duties in that city, the former as a practicing attorney and the latter as the city editor of the Press Democrat. Although the Index-Tribune did not support either in the last campaign, we must confess that both have made good and would have undoubtedly done a great deal more for their constituents had it not been that both branches of the Legislature were under the control of a set of hypocritical, longhaired reformers whose only thought was the spoils of office. However that may be, Senator Juilliard and Assemblyman Slater were instrumental in securing the passage of much legislation for the benefit of Sonoma county and in conjunction with all good citizens we cannot refrain from saying, "Well done thou good and faithful servants."

ROBINS COME HIGH IN EL VERANO

John Clavorie Engages in Rather Expensive Sport

Shoots Two Robins and is Fined Thirty-Five Dollars for His Experience

Robins come high in El Verano. The latest quotations come from Justice Campbell's Court in this city, who raised the price of the birds to $35 a pair last Wednesday. It happened this way. While County Game Warden Henry Lecioni was sloshing around in the vicinity of El Verano on the day in question he detected John Clavorie, a visitor from San Francisco, in the act of shooting a brace of robins and placed him under arrest for violating the game law. The accused was taken before Justice Campbell who fined him $15 for hunting without a license and $25 for killing the two birds. Mr. Clavorie paid the fine and went on his way rejoicing.

Will Fill a Long Felt Local Want

The well known commercial firm of Green, Foster and Lehmann of San Francisco have leased the store in the Odd Fellows building adjoining "Glaister & Beyers' grocery, and will engage in the business of conducting a wholesale exchange in butter, eggs, etc. It is the intention of this firm to remain here permanently and it will be its aim to pay the highest market price for eggs on the same basis as Petaluma and Santa Rosa. They will be open for business next week.

A Fine Improvement

P. Boccoli, our enterprising Napa street merchant, has improved his store building with an iron and plate glass front and attractive show windows. This improvement makes his store one of the most attractive in town.

Razzle-Dazzle in Judge Campbell's Court

A four-handed game of razzle-dazzle took place in Justice James Campbell's Court last Tuesday evening. The participants were E. Guyot and his attorney Frank Sprague on the one side and Tony Silva and his lawyer H. P. Mathewson on the other. The contest was brought about by Silva and Guyot swapping horses. It appears that the former exchanged a bay horse with the latter for another horse, receiving $50 to boot. The day after the parties had swapped horses Guyot regretted his bargain and made a demand on Silva for the return of his nag and the $50 to boot. "Nothing doing," said Silva, and thereupon Guyot sued for the return of his animal and money in the Justice's Court here.

When the case was called Attorney Mathewson demanded a jury trial, but before one could be sworn in Attorney Sprague, who probably realized that a horse trade was a horse trade, offered to compromise the case. This was consented to by Silva's attorney. This made the game horse and horse, but under the terms of the agreement between the parties to the suit, the horses were swapped back and Silva was allowed to retain $20 of the $50 to boot money and the costs of the suit was assessed up to Guyot. This was obviously a horse on him and the game was ended.

INFORMATION FILED AGAINST CHISHOLM

District Attorney Lea Has Alleged Fort Ross Murderer in Meshes of Law

He Must Now Fight Against the Hangman's Noose in the Superior Court

District Attorney Lea, on Monday last, filed an information in the Superior Court of this county against "Dr." L. C. Chisholm, charging him with the murder of John Powell at Fort Ross.

The history of this case is one of the most remarkable in the criminal annals of Northern California. Briefly stated the body of an unknown man was discovered lying in a tent, in a lonely place near Fort Ross, with two bullet holes in his head and a revolver lying by his side.

The dead man was recognized by nearby ranchers as being one of two men who had interviewed them in regard to a camping place, a week or two before the discovery of the remains.

District Attorney Clarence F. Lea and Sheriff Jack Smith were notified of the discovery of the dead man and immediately left for the Fort Ross country to investigate the matter. In the tent where the dead man lay they discovered a writing tablet on which had been scribbled, "Dear Blanche, What's the use —" and beside the tablet was an envelope addressed to Mrs. Blanche Powell, San Francisco, "General Delivery."

Now, this would have looked like a clear case of suicide to almost anybody except District Attorney Lea and Sheriff Jack Smith, and would have been let go at that. But these terrors to evil doers started a systematic search to solve the mystery of the man's lonely death. While investigating the case a most trivial thing put a clew into their hands that fastened the crime upon one "Dr." Chisholm, a man whom it was afterwards discovered had many aliases. This was in the form of a visiting card bearing the name and address of a professional nurse in San Francisco. This the accused had accidentally dropped while he was making inquiries as to a camping place at a farm house near Fort Ross. This card had been picked up by the rancher and remarkable to relate had been preserved by him, who delivered it to the Sheriff and District Attorney, and was the direct means of tracing the alleged murderer and fastening the crime upon him. It was only a slight clew to commence with, but it eventually led to weaving a net around Dr. Chisholm, through the meshes of which his attorney, Thosmas J. Butts of Santa Rosa, one of the shrewdest criminal lawyers in the State, will have the fight of his life to release him.

Thus did this little innocent looking visiting card not only lead to the identification of Chisholm as the companion of the dead man but a motive for the crime as well.

The evidence is purely circumstantial, but is as strong if not stronger than that which led to the arrest and conviction of Dr. W. P. Burke, who endeavored to dynamite to death Lu Etta Smith and her innocent babe.

Verily, criminals of all kinds would do well to give Sonoma county a wide berth.

Equal Suffrage Meeting

Every woman or girl interested in suffrage is earnestly invited to attend the meeting at the home of Mrs. F. T. Duhring next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay who has done so much to improve Long Island Schools, says: Why shouldn't women who pay taxes have a vote as to how the money is to be spent? It would be another matter if women were exempt from taxes. But, as it is now, it is merely another case of taxation without representation. Many women think it would be unfeminine to vote, but it needn't be When it comes to the acting of the ballot, I, and dozen ways to make ming as a bridge party neglecting the home ints, it is for the betterments that we want the ballot.

CHARITY THE COMPOSITE VIRTUE.

It is often in the little by-places of life far from the broad highway that we find sweet charity at its sweetest. Charity in the abstract is much prated of. It is preached from our pulpits and sung in our songs. It is taught from our text books and bragged of by our millionaires. We are well acquainted with sweet charity, but too often it is a virtue we would wear upon our sleeves, and the parade of seeming charity forces contributions and affiliations which is far from the genuine sort. If the hearts of many such were searched we would not find this golden virtue but vain-seeking after glory and applause of their fellows.

Yet, like the modest violet, the real essence of sweet charity blossoms often in the most unexpected places. Not in the shelter of the church, perhaps, nor yet in the garden of the renowned philanthropist, but in the unobstrusive cottage far out on the country road where a helpless one lies—an incurable invalid not beset by the luxuriant environment of the modern sanitarium, not in the midst of the most sanitary health-giving devices, not in the condescending hands of science, but basking in the warmth of true and untiring devotion. Think what it means when by contrast we recall the hundreds of incurables whom the State must minister to. Think what kind of a charity this is when measured by the kind that is dealt out wholesale by organizations. Think what the individual can do when he wants to and the work lies close at hand, and think how he shirks it where he can. When we come across a beautiful illustration it should be dwelt upon and emulated, for the charity which is true charity does not always mean the expenditure of money. It means thoughtfulness, tenderness, consideration, self-sacrifice and care. It is the composite virtue this kind of charity. In the little by-way before mentioned an incurable whose life has been deprived of much through the sickness which left him a cripple, there is a constant effort to substitute sunshine in the way of providing congenial company, music, reading matter, delicacies, flowers and all the comforts and pleasures possible. They have been forthcoming for over ten years, so it is no spurt of virtue but a never-failing stream of crystal purity from the font of real christians.

The virtue of charity evinces itself in conversation and he who speaks no evil of his fellows or is no tale-bearer disseminating slander may take his high place on honor's roll though his coat be shabby and he speaks a broken tongue.

Confidence in Sonoma's future is evidenced by the quick sales in the new residence tracts recently put upon the market. Lots are going like hot cakes and it is safe to predict that in a very few years the purchasers will make a handsome margin on their investments.

DRAWING A TOOTH

Tushmaker's Pulling Machine Was a Wonderful Invention.

KILLED HIS FIRST PATIENT.

But That Simply Couldn't Be Helped, and the Autopsy Showed Why the Victim Lifted His Right Leg Each Time the Lever Was Turned.

Mr. Tushmaker was never regularly bred as a physician or surgeon, but he possessed naturally a strong mechanical genius and a fine appetite, and, finding his teeth of great service in gratifying the latter propensity, he concluded that he could do more good in the world and create more real happiness therein by putting the teeth of its inhabitants in good order than in any other way, so Tushmaker became a dentist.

He was the man who first invented the method of placing small cogwheels in the back teeth for the more perfect mastication of food, and he claimed to be the original discoverer of that method of filling cavities with a kind of putty which, becoming hard directly, causes the tooth to ache so grievously that it has to be pulled, thereby giving the dentist two successive fees for the same job.

Tushmaker was one day seated in his office in the city of Boston when a stout old fellow named Byles presented himself to have a back tooth drawn. The dentist seated his patient in the chair of torture and, opening his mouth, discovered there an enormous tooth on the right hand side about as large, as he afterward expressed it, "as a small polyglot Bible." "I shall have trouble with this tooth," thought Tushmaker, but he clapped on his heaviest forceps and pulled. It didn't come. Then he tried the turnscrew, exerting his utmost strength, but the tooth wouldn't stir.

"Go away from here," said Tushmaker to Byles, "and return in a week and I'll draw that tooth for you or know the reason why." Byles got up, clapped a handkerchief to his jaw and put forth.

Then the dentist went to work, and in three days he invented an instrument which he was confident would pull anything. It was a combination of the lever, pulley, wheel and axle, inclined plane, wedge and screw. The castings were made and the machine put up in the office over an iron chair rendered perfectly stationary by iron rods going down into the foundations of the granite building.

In a week old Byles returned. He was clamped into the iron chair, the forceps connected with the machine attached firmly to the tooth, and Tushmaker, stationing himself in the rear, took hold of a lever four feet in length. He turned it slightly. Old Byles gave a groan and lifted his right leg. Another turn, another groan, and up went the leg again.

"What do you raise your leg for?" asked the doctor.

"I can't help it," said the patient.

"Well," rejoined Tushmaker, "that tooth is bound to come out now."

He turned the lever clear round with a sudden jerk and snapped old Byles' head clean and clear from his shoulders, leaving a space of four inches between the severed parts. They had a postmortem examination. The roots of the tooth were found extending down the right side, through the right leg and turning up in two prongs under the sole of the right foot.

"No wonder," said Tushmaker, "he raised his right leg."

The jury thought so, too, but they found the roots much decayed, and, five surgeons swearing that mortification would have ensued in a few months, Tushmaker was cleared on a verdict of "justifiable homicide."

He was a little shy of that instrument for some time afterward, but one day an old lady, feeble and flaccid, came in to have a tooth drawn, and, thinking that it would come out very easy, Tushmaker concluded, just by way of variety, to try the machine. He did so and at the first turn drew the old lady's skeleton completely and entirely from her body, leaving her a mass of quivering jelly in her chair. Tushmaker took her home in a pillowcase. She lived seven years after that, and they called her the "India rubber woman." She had suffered terribly with the rheumatism, but after this occurrence never had a pain in her bones. The dentist kept them in a glass case.

After this the machine was sold to the contractor of the Boston custom house, and it was found that a child of three years of age could, by a single turn of the screw, raise a stone weighing twenty-three tons. Smaller ones were made on the same principle and sold to the keepers of hotels and restaurants. They were used for boiling turkeys. There is no moral to this story whatever, and it is possible that the circumstances may have become slightly exaggerated. Of course there can be no doubt of the truth of the main incidents.—John Phoenix.

He Told Her.

Mr. Economic—Did you write to the man who advertises to show people how to make puddings without milk and have them richer?

Mrs. Economic—Yes, and sent him a dollar.

"What did he reply?"

"Use cream."

To dread no eye and to suspect no tongue, is the greatest prerogative of innocence.—Dr. Johnson

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?
The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.
Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.
No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R.V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N.Y.

TEACHERS LOSE VERY SOFT SNAP

Teachers Must Work Like Other People to Earn Their Salaries

State Superintendent of Schools Hyatt, having been appealed to from many sources concerning the powers and duties of school trustees and teachers, has sent out a general answer.

He has given it as his opinion that school trustees have the right to declare school holidays or vacations at any time when in their judgment it is for the best interest of the school to do so. A bill passed by the Legislature is now before the Governor for his approval, more clearly defining that power on the part of the school trustees.

Another angle to the troubling question is whether or not, after the school trustees have declared a vacation temporarily, the teachers can demand pay for the time not engaged in teaching. Hyatt says that if the teachers are willing, able and ready to teach, they most certainly may demand salary for the enforced vacation. But in case of a mutual agreement between the teachers and the trustees no pay will be forthcoming.

Here is a ruling which may affect many teachers in many schools throughout the State. If at any time, so Hyatt holds, a teacher during the final week of school does not teach, she is not entitled to pay for the time lost. Teachers are supposed to teach up to 4 o'clock of the last day of school, says Hyatt. If they finish their work on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday and lay off during the remainder of the week, they should not be paid for Tuesday or Friday of that week. This ruling will cut off the practice of teachers taking "things easy" during the week. Hyatt says they should plan their work, so as to have something to do up to the last hour of the school term.

Another ruling affects such cases as those arising from floods, fire or disasters of any kind, when school cannot be held through no fault of the teacher, the pupils or the community. Hyatt says that teachers should be paid for the enforced perid of idleness. He says the entire community loses, through inconvenience, but depriving teachers of pay in such cases would be unjust, because they would be the only ones to lose financially through lack of pay and while their expenses were running along the same as usual.

In case a teacher is sick or unable to teach and loses time she is not entitled to pay, according to the ruling of the State Superintendent.

Her Mistake.

The death of Dave Moffatt calls to mind a story we heard about him in Denver ten years ago, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He went to Chicago. He was alone, and when he stepped from a Pullman, into the crowd the on platform a sweet, fluffy young thing threw herself into his arms.

"Oh, dad!" She cried with a series of ecstatic hugs. "Oh, papa, dear, I'm so glad to—Oh!"

She perceived her error and blushed painfully but gloriously. "I—I beg your pardon," she stammered. "I -t- th- thought you were my papa. I—" And she tried to escape into the throng where she could hide her confusion. But the gallant empire builder would have none of such. He still held her firmly in a quasi-paternal embrace.

"I am not your papa, it is true," he whispered tenderly, "but I am going to play that I am for a while. Don't try to get away from me, my dear. I'm going to play papa to you until the police come."

When the police came they restored Mr. Moffatt's watch and diamond scarfpin to him and led the struggling broiler away.

County Hospital Patient Makes Attempt at Suicide

Lewis B. Runyan attempted suicide at the County Hospital on Sunday morning. The man made a bad job of his effort to die, and simply hacked his throat badly.

In some manner not correctly known, Runyan obtained a razor, but the instrument he had chosen to accomplish his death was not sufficiently sharp to do good execution.

Runyan cut his throat badly in front, but failed to draw the blade from ear to ear, as is done by most persons attempting to end their lives.

Dr. S. S. Bogle was called and it required twelve stitches to close the wound in the man's neck. Runyan is suffering from consumption and is a patient at the county hospital. He grew tired of life.

GRISWOLD HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

It Was One of the Most Pretentious Residences in the Los Guilicos Valley

The costly home of N. R. Griswold, the promoter of the town of Los Guilicos in the piping times of the early "boom" days in this valley a decade or two ago is no more. The old landmark was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning.

The fire was first discovered just at midnight, but must have been burning for some time, as it had gained great headway. The family barely had time to escape with a little of their wearing apparel.

The place was owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Davidrow, with their son, Arnold, and daughter, Miss Gretchen. Mr. Davidrow and daughter were in San Francisco, while Arnold and a friend visiting him from San Francisco, and with his mother, they witnessed the destruction of the home.

The old mansion was a commodious two-story stone building and cost $35,000. It was furnished most handsomely, and there were a number of fine paintings, all of which were destroyed. There was some insurance on the building but none on the household goods. The loss will be over $50,000. At 3 Tuesday morning there was nothing but the spectre-like walls left standing.

Picture Show at Union Hall

The Cinema oving Picture Show will be open to the publi in Union Hall every Tuesday, Saturday and Sunday evenings with continuous performances from 8 to 10 and a complete change of pictures each night. Prof. Fitzgerald will preside at the piano On Tuesday evenings there will be a social hop after the show. Admission 10c.

SEDUCER MUST GO TO PRISON

Reformer Who Circulated Petition to Squelch Santa Rosa Red Light District Gets His

F. C. Richardson, a whilom reformer of Santa Rosa, who conducted a business college in that city for a couple of years, and who was convicted in the Superior Court of this county last spring and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years for seducing several of his girl pupils, must serve his sentence. The Appellate Court to which the accused had appealed for a new trial, handed down its opinion Wednesday, which denied him a new trial.

Justice Hart wrote the opinion in the case and it was concurred in by the other members of the court. The only remedy now that the prisoner has to prevent beginning his service of this term in prison will be an application for a rehearing. It is hardly believed this will be done in his behalf.

Hay Market for This Week

The condition of the hay market for the week ending last Wednesday, as reported by Somers & Co. of San Francisco is as follows:

"During the past week hay has been shipped to market quite rapidly, a total of 3058 tons arriving which, under the present conditions of trade, is burdensome. Prices have declined somewhat and there is an easy tone to the market on account of the fact that most of the dealers are over-supplied. The excessive shipment of hay at the present time is not a natural movement. In the country prices seem to be fairly well maintained, and holders of hay are not especially anxious to sell. However, it is the effort on the part of the local dealers to handle a large quantity of hay on a market which cannot absorb it. Practically all the hay which is being shipped is owned by local dealers, having been purchased comparatively recently. It is not necessary for holders of hay to rush it to market for it is generally understood that no one has a very heavy supply which would necessitate rapid marketing in order to clean out before the new season opens. Many believe that hay will sell at higher prices in harvest time than at present, but this we believe can hardly be expected unless something unforeseen happens to the detriment of the growing crop. At present the early sown grain looks very good, although the late sown is somewhat backward and would be infinitely benefited by an early rain.

Present prices we quote as follow: Choice wheat hay, $12 to $13.50; good grain same, $10 to $11; other grades same, $7 to $10; wheat and oats, $7 to $11; tame oat hay, $7 to $11; tame oat hay, $7 to $11; wild oat hay, $6.50 to $9.50; stock hay, $5.50 to $6.50; alfalfa $8 to $11.50; straw per bale, 35c to 50c.

Sanitation at the Summer Resorts

From County Physician S. S. Bogle, who is also the health officer of the county, it is learned that the sanitation at summer resorts all over the State will receive special attention at the hands of the State Board of Health this summer.

Before the summer season opens and boarders come the representatives of the State Board will inspect the premises with a view of having any hindrances to health removed.

Dr. Bogle has already visited a number of places on the Russian river and the determination to establish a septic tank sewer disposal system in Guerneville is one of the results of the desire of people to comply with the decision of the State Board.

VINEBURG ECHOS

Charles Sayler, section foreman on the N. W. P. R. R., was a visitor to the city on Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis DuLew of San Francisco is now visiting her mother, Mrs. J. H. Cottrell, at the latter's home on the Hyde tract.

Misses Ethel and Agnes Gericke of Alta Vista were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Groskopf at their home "Whispering Pines" on Easter Sunday.

Mrs. John Wadsworth was a passenger on the afternoon train Saturday, having gone to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. M. King of Alameda.

Some one has started a report that "Tillie Tipton," the Vineburg poetress, is going up to Alaska to open an "ice cream parlor." Tillie, what a joke.

Mr. Albert Trautvetter of "The Brookside Poultry Yards" has just installed a fine Petaluma incubator on his place. It is the seventh one now in operation here.

We understand that the contract has been let for the erection of the new school house here, and work will begin in a few days. M. J. Pierce of Sonoma has the contract.

Arthur Batto entertained a number of friends on Easter with an automobile trip to various places of interest throughout the valley. The party consisted of Mrs. Arthur Batto, Misses Ethel and Agnes Gericke and Mr. Chas. Groskopf.

Sunday being Easter and the weather all that could be desired, quite a number of passengers alighted at this station to visit friends and relatives. We also noticed on the young ladies some "classy creations" in the shape of "spring bonnets." Some were "perfect dreams."

Two young ladies on horseback stopped on the road in front of Batto's new store last Wednesday, and as they "sized up" the artistic sign one remarked to the other: "From the looks of that sign one would think Batto and Sons handled the globe." "Oh, no," replied her chum, "but they handle "Globe Flour" and that is the next thing to it."

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a costitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
